

London will host AFSIC 2019, the leading Africa Investor event globally, which is now in its 7th year, taking place from 8th to 10th May 2019.

AFSIC is a highly focused investment event and is believed to be the largest Africa investment event taking place annually in Europe and one of the most important Africa investor events globally.

AFSIC is quoted on its website that business leaders from around 40 African countries are expected to attend in 2019, and with over 250+ speakers and participants focused sessions, and an expected 1000+ delegates.

AFSIC provides an unparalleled opportunity to develop and nurture a robust, high quality network of business contacts across the continent, providing multiple networking opportunities for African business leaders, investors and dealmakers to meet.

A sophisticated event and Meeting App allows delegates to prepare up to a month ahead for critical investment meetings allowing real deals to be concluded during the course of AFSIC.

According to FSIC, Africa is the second fastest growing region in the world.

“Multiple indicators suggest that Africa has entered a cycle of strong economic growth that will match that experienced by Asia over the past decades. Global investors are positioning themselves to understand the increasingly evident opportunities across Africa in greater depth.

More information on the event, and how to register, is available on the website www.afsic.net .
